

HISTORY and PURPOSE

One astute observer has advised: “Read the history of the Wyoming Stock Growers Association and you will have read not only the history of the state of Wyoming but the history of territorial Wyoming and even of the rugged frontier of pre-territorial days.” This is true. The men who, in 1872, founded the Wyoming Stock Growers Association, and nurtured it during the first uncertain decades of its existence, were the same men who carved the Territory of Wyoming out of the wilderness, and officiated at the birth of the state.

It is also true that the history of Wyoming and the growth and development of the cattle industry in Wyoming have been synonymous. Nowhere else in the United States of America has a comparable situation existed.
